BLAZE RIPS THROUGH CHINESE RESTAURANT

Fire crews spend six hours tackling blaze which also damaged library

William Mata
william.mata@hertsexnews.co.uk

A FIRE that quickly spread through a Chinese restaurant in Old Harlow was caused by faulty electrical equipment.

Firefighters spent six hours tackling the blaze at the Crystal Palace, in High Street, as thick smoke billowed from the premises last Thursday morning.

An investigation carried out by Essex County Fire and Rescue Service concluded the cause of the fire was accidental.

The building suffered severe smoke damage, and this week the future of the popular family-run restaurant and takeaway remains unclear.

A member of the public raised the alarm at 9.27am, and fire crews from Harlow, Sawbridgeworth and Waltham Abbey were sent to tackle the blaze, with four fire engines on the scene.

Alight

A fire service spokesman said the restaurant was 20 per cent alight and 80 per cent smokelocked when crews entered the building.

Their progress was hampered by a gas leak, which meant the supply had to be isolated before they could tackle the flames.

Shortly before 11am they called

Stroke services are moved from PAH

Patients will travel to Romford or Stevenage

Gemma Gardner

gemma.gardner@hertsexnews.co.uk

PATIENTS in Harlow who need specialist stroke care will not be taken to Princess Alexandra Hospital (PAH) as services are moved away three months earlier than planned.

PAH chiefs say the trust has experienced difficulties in recruiting and retaining senior clinical staff with stroke expertise to "continue to deliver this type of specialist care".

Hyper-acute patients, those who presented within six hours of suffering a stroke, are now being taken to either the specialist centre at Lister Hospital in Stevenage or Queens Hospital in Romford.

A statement from the trust said: "The Princess Alexandra Hospital Trust has been working with local system partners to support the development of new pathways for stroke care which formed part of a recent public consultation.

"The plans were due to be implemented in April 2016, however the trust has experienced difficulties in recruiting and retaining enough senior clinical staff with stroke expertise to continue to deliver this type of specialist care, whilst the new pathways are being developed and implemented.

Specialist

"As a result, from Monday January 25, all hyper acute stroke patients will receive treatment at their nearest specialist stroke centre, which will either be Queen's Hospital in Romford or Lister Hospital in Stevenage for the majority of patients.

"The trust are continuing to review this position and are still providing acute stroke care and rehabilitation for patients who have received treatment at a specialist stroke centre."

In September, the West Essex Clinical Commissioning Group, the body responsible for buying healthcare services, announced proposals focusing on the first 72 hours of stroke care as those can have the biggest impact on a person's chances of survival and possibilities of recovery.

Under these plans patients would be taken to hyper-acute stroke units which provide highly specialised care 24 hours a day, seven days a week. These changes were not due to take place until April.

Anybody who thinks that they or someone close to them could be having a stroke should dial 999 and the ambulance service will take them to the nearest available specialist stroke centre.

Anyone who has any concerns or questions about this temporary arrangement can contact the hospital's Patient Advice and Liaison Service on (01279) 827211.

Vet warns of disease that is spread to pets by ticks

A VET is warning pet owners to watch out for a potentially fatal disease after two cases were found in Harlow.

Forest Veterinary Centre, at Eastwick Lodge Farm said two dogs have been treated for babesia - a virus spread by ticks.

"We are very concerned about babesia," said Debbie White, practice manager at Forest Veterinary Centre.

"It can be spread by ticks which infect the blood of an animal. It infects red blood cells which causes the animal to become lethargic, have pale gums and urine of a red or brown colour."

Mishka, a husky breed, needed to have an emergency blood transfusion after developing babesia, and it is likely both dogs affected would have died without treatment.

Ticks can easily transfer between dogs when they rub together, and Mrs White urged any pet owners who see their animal displaying any of the symptoms to contact a vet.

Six-hour blaze wrecks popular restaurant for an extra two appliances as they used three main water jets and one hose reel jet to extinguish the flames and eliminate hotspots.

The fire was extinguished shortly after 1pm, and one crew remained on site until 3pm to damp down the smouldering wreckage.

Throughout the incident staff at the Cross Keys cafe opposite the restaurant provided tea and coffee for firefighters and police officers, who were on site directing traffic.

The aftermath of the fire has meant the neighbouring Old Harlow Library will be closed until at least tomorrow (Friday) due to smoke damage.

An Essex Libraries spokesman said: "Old Harlow Library needs a deep clean due to smoke from the fire in the takeaway next door. It is difficult to judge if the book stock has smoke damage and if it can be salvaged."

Stricken construction firm seeks buyer in cash-flow crisis

gemma.gardner@hertsexsexnews.co.uk

UP to 70 jobs are at risk as Harlow construction firm C J Pryor searches for a buyer after a cash-flow crisis.

The business, based in Foster Street, has nearly 70 years of trading history and works with construction contractors on large infrastructure projects, including Harlow Enterprise Zone.

But due to a "severe shortfall in working capital", the majority of its workforce were sent home on Thursday.

A statement sent on behalf of Pryor by FRP Advisory said: "Whilst a sale may secure the best long-term future for the business, management has started a consultation process for all 77 staff in the event that redundancies are required."

"It is anticipated the business will retain a core team of 15 to 20 of its 70 staff, to help service existing orders and liaise with customers, whilst seeking a buyer for the ongoing business and trade.

"In the meantime pressure on cash flow has resulted in the need to file an intention to appoint administrators in order to secure the business' current ongoing work and assets in the interest of all its stakeholders."

Liaise

"The business is currently working with FRP Advisory, the business advisory firm, as it continues to liaise with customers, suppliers and staff and market the business for sale. Management would like to thank staff for their hard work and understanding during this period of transition."

LOSING STAFF: Pearson announced 4,000 jobs are to go worldwide

(Contracts) Limited, specialises in earth moving, civil engineering and related earth-moving haulage for projects ranging from road-building to reservoir construction.

Further jobs could be at risk after shoe retailer Brantano UK entered administration and education publisher Pearson announced plans to cut its global workforce by 10 per cent.

Brantano sells shoes, trainers, sportswear and bags and operates 140 stores and 60 concessions in the UK. Its shop in Edinburgh Way will continue trading as normal for the time being.

Lead administrator Tony Barrell said: "The administrators are continuing to trade the businesses as normal whilst we assess the trading strategy over the coming days and weeks."

Pearson, which has offices at Edinburgh Gate in Harlow as well as London, Manchester and Oxford, employs 4,500 people in the UK.

News of potential job losses followed an announcement that significantly more people in Harlow are working than last year, according to the latest Job Centre Plus statistics.

At present 955 people are claiming Jobseekers Allowance in Harlow, which is a 20 per cent reduction from January 2015.

Inspector calls time on pavement parking with 3Es focus

DRIVERS who park their cars on Harlow's pavements are being urged to think twice.

Neighbourhood policing inspector Paul Maleary said vehicles obstructing walkways was a constant source of frustration which could easily be avoided.

"Partially blocking a footpath with a car is commonplace in Harlow but if you do this you are preventing someone from walking safely to school or to the shops," said Insp

Maleary. "Would you want your kids or nan walking into the road just because someone had parked without thinking?"

"When you park do you think of the risk you present to the young mum with the pushchair, the child walking to school or my nan going to the shop?"

"We need to think more about the risk this poses to a child, and not so much about looking after a metal object."

He said that during the past year 19 pedestrians had been involved in accidents with cars in Harlow.

He is currently working with The Safer Essex Roads Partnership in a bid to tackle the problem with the focus on three 'E's:

■ Education: You will be told why you shouldn't block a path, why you should wear bright and reflective clothing at night and why you should carry a torch.

■ Engineering: Working with the council to look at a long-term solution to anti-social parking including yellow lines, bollards and the removal of garage blocks.

■ Enforcement: If all else fails, police will deal with offenders who repeatedly place pedestrians at risk.

He added: "I would ask drivers to consider their actions and the actions of those in their house. This can be awkward but when police get involved this could be even more stressful for them."

Church sends eight of its 11 bells for a refurb

William Mata

william.mata@hertsessexnews.co.uk

BELLS at a church in Old Harlow will be ringing more tunefully after they have been repaired and retuned for the first time in more than 130 years.

The peal of bells has been greeting worshippers arriving at St Mary and St Hugh Church, in Churchgate Street, for Sunday morning services since 1883.

But for the next four weeks it will be the sound of silence that greets members of the congregation as eight of the 11 bells are refurbished at the Whitechapel Bell Foundry in London.

Steve Knox, 50, who lives in East Park, Old Harlow, said: "I was just driving past when I saw the bells lined up outside the church."

"I was interested to see the bells as I used to be a bellringer at the church when I was 13. Lots of people had stopped to look at them and take photographs. I couldn't believe I was seeing them just lined up on the pavement."

"They were being prepared and put onto a lorry which was interesting to watch."

RING SIDE: Steve Knox with one of the church bells

The church was built in the 12th century but was badly damaged in a fire in 1708 which burned down the spire and melted the bells. When parts of the church were rebuilt, a new bell tower was constructed at the west end of the church.

The bells are made from bronze and weigh between half a tonne and a tonne each. The refurbishment work is being funded by a private donation.

"The bells have a lot of history as the church and The Queens Head pub next door are important parts of the local community," said Mr Knox. "It's nice to see that they are being renovated and revamped."

"When I was younger I used to get paid 76p for my services when I would ring bells for a wedding. I still have dabble with ringing the bells and I did a session last year."

Opening night at new venue for live music

MUSIC fans in Harlow starved of live performances following the closure of The Square are being given an alternative venue to see new bands.

Burnt Mill Snooker and Social Club, in Edinburgh Way, will host The Hit Cave, offering groups a platform on which to perform.

"We want to help the town out in its music scene," said Tony Morris, the man behind The Hit Cave project. "We really like the venue at Burnt Mill and it will be perfect for live bands and acoustic shows."

Mr Morris said he was worried the closure of The Square at the end of last month would hamper the chances of success for new bands.

The Hit Cave, which currently holds successful acoustic shows in Bishop's Stortford, will be staging its first gig in Harlow tomorrow (Friday).

"It will all be original music from original bands trying to make their way and find gigs," said Mr Morris.

"A lot of tribute and cover bands play in Harlow but it can be hard for a new band to break through, so we want to help them out."

Headlining tomorrow's show will be Essex band Don't Worry supported by Velvet Rose and MakeHasteMyEscape.

Mr Morris added: "In the future we would like to have bigger artists playing and also build a good relationship with up-and-coming bands in the area."

Tomorrow's show starts at 8pm and admission is £6 on the door.

PUPILS from a Harlow primary school spent a morning shooting hoops at Mark Hall Sports Centre when they joined hundreds of others from around the county competing in sports events as part of the 2016 Winter School Games.

The youngsters from Church Langley Primary School, in Church Langley Way, enjoyed a basketball session as part of the programme of activities organised by Active Essex.

Harlow Council chairman

Tony Hall got the basketball under way at Mark Hall, while badminton and table tennis tournaments were held at Harlow Leisurezone and BATTS at the Norman Booth Centre in Old Harlow.

Gary Sullivan, chairman of Active Essex, said: "The Winter School Games is a positive example of our enduring commitment to providing sport for all. I pay tribute to everybody's hard work and dedication in making it happen."

Delight as exam results table rankings revealed

Proud heads applaud the efforts of staff and students

William Mata

william.mata@hertsexnews.co.uk

HARLOW College and Burnt Mill Academy topped the class in the final rankings for their students' performances in last year's GCSE and A-level examinations.

The league tables published by the Department of Education last Thursday are compiled using the percentage of students achieving benchmark grades.

Improved

Harlow College was the best performing college in the UK for value-added scores, which indicate how much school or college students have improved from one test to another.

College principal Karen Spencer said she was "incredibly proud" of their achievements, adding: "Outcomes like this are only achieved by the hard work of our students, the high expectations of our staff and the support of parents and carers."

Picture: Vikki Lince HEK20160122A-295, C

"Once again our learners make tremendous progress from their starting points for both A-level and vocational programmes. This is fabulous for Harlow."

With 25 per cent of their students receiving an A* or A grade at A-level, the college finished ahead of St Mark's West Essex Catholic School as the town's highest-ranking sixth form.

Meanwhile, Burnt Mill Academy, in First Avenue, topped the town's GCSE table with 74 per cent of students achieving the benchmark of five A*-C grades including mathematics and English.

Sustain

Speaking after the students received their grades back in August, headteacher John Blaney said: "The fact we have managed to sustain the results for the second year is fantastic and we are thrilled for each and every student."

St Mark's West Essex Catholic School finished second, followed by Stewards Academy, Passmore Academy and Mark Hall Academy.

Sir Charles Kao UTC did not feature in the tables as the college was not open in time for students to sit exams in 2015.

DREAM ON: Robert Halfon with Longwood pupils

'Follow your dream' urges MP in talk to primary pupils

HARLOW MP Robert Halfon used his visit to Longwood Primary Academy to encourage pupils to overcome adversity and follow their dreams.

Mr Halfon, who was born with a form of cerebral palsy and has to walk with the aid of crutches, was invited to the school in Paringdon Road, Harlow, to talk to the children at a special assembly.

He spoke about his own experiences of overcoming his disability and how he came to represent Harlow in the House of Commons and encouraged pupils to go to university.

Executive headteacher Jo Coton said: "Robert's motivational speech inspired the children and staff as he talked about the importance of having aspirations in life."

"He emphasised hard work, dedication and commitment were key factors in his success."

Town sculptures included in list of protected art

FOUR of Harlow's extensive collection of public works of art are among 41 post-war sculptures across the country which have been given protected status.

The sculptures, most listed at Grade II or Grade II*, were designed to bring public spaces back to life in the aftermath of the Second World War.

The works in Harlow listed by the Department for Culture, Media and Sport on the advice of Historic England are Wild Boar by Elisabeth Frink, Donkey by Willi Soukop and two pieces – Help! and Portrait of Elisabeth Frink – by F.E. McWilliam.

Wild Boar, which stands in the Water Gardens, was one of Frink's first major public commissions for the Harlow Art Trust while Donkey was created to encourage children to explore art through play.

Help! depicts two women caught in a bomb blast and holding a banner displaying the word 'HELP' was McWilliam's response to The Troubles in Northern Ireland with particular reference to the bombing of a Belfast tea room in March 1972.

Roger Bowdler, director of listing for Historic England, said: "These sculptures were commissioned and created for everybody and have become a precious national collection of art which we can all share."

"They enrich our lives, bring art to everyone and deserve celebration. We have worked with the Public Monuments and Sculpture Association, Tate, and the Twentieth Century Society throughout this project to ensure our most special public art is protected and continues to enhance our public spaces."

Harlow's collection of public art includes works by Henry Moore, Auguste Rodin and Barbara Hepworth. In 2011 it was officially designated a sculpture town.

Childhood sweethearts celebrate their platinum anniversary

William Mata

william.mata@hertsessexnews.co.uk

A COUPLE who first met as schoolchildren more than eight decades ago are this week celebrating 70 years of marriage.

Ron and Dinah Bryant, who live in Abbotsweld, Harlow, tied the knot in St Michael's Church at Stonebridge, west London on January 26, 1946.

"It was a wet and miserable day," said Mrs Bryant, 89, who was just 19 when she walked up the aisle with her new husband.

"It was raining and I remember I had to go to the shop to buy some bread as we had run out. Back then all food was rationed and you could take food you didn't want back to the shop."

"The reception was held in our family home as there were not the same number of halls you could hire like you would do today."

"We met as schoolchildren," said Mr Bryant, 92. "We lived in the same neighbourhood of London and that's how we began courting."

The couple moved to Harlow with daughters Janet and Kathleen back in 1961. They now have seven grandchildren and six great grandchildren.

HAPPY COUPLE : Ron and Dinah Bryant

Mr Bryant worked as an electrical wireman for A.C. Cossor and later served as a school crossing patrol officer – or lollipop man – outside Abbotsweld Primary where Mrs Bryant became a familiar face to thousands of the town's schoolchildren through her job as a dinner lady.

Mr Bryant was also a lollipop man outside the same school.

The couple celebrated their platinum anniversary by being taken out to lunch at the Miller and Carter restaurant by members of their family.

Reflecting on their life together, Mr Bryant said: "We've had our ups and downs over the years but we've always got over them."

"I don't think any marriage is perfect but we've always been able to put our differences aside."

picture: HEV20160121A-866_C

And baby makes five! Meet the stars of the generations game

IT'S a full house for one Harlow family who are now into their fifth generation. Doris Loomes, 89, of Little Brays, became a great-great grandmother following the birth seven weeks ago of Lily-Mae Tyler.

The family tree is completed by Mrs Loomes's daughter Gail Webster, 69, granddaughter Donna Wilmshurst, 52, and great-granddaughter Amy Wilmshurst, 25.

"It is really good to have so many generations," said Donna, who lives in Potter Street, Harlow. "We are really lucky as some people can be in their 50s and not even have their parents anymore."

"We have had five generations before when my great-grandmother was still alive.

"I also have a grandson who is 15 so I guess there's a chance we could have six generations soon, although he probably wouldn't appreciate me saying that!"

Apart from Mrs Webster, all of the others are Harlow residents and Mrs Loomes has lived in the area all her life.

"She is from the former village of Burnt Mill and is able to remember the time before the New Town," said Donna, who has four children of her own.

She added: "It is not that often that we all meet up as a family but I had a 40th party where all of us came together."

Man jailed for oil theft wins appeal against conviction

Judges decide original guilty verdict was unsafe

Court Reporter
star@hertsessexnews.co.uk

A MAN who spent more than six months behind bars for stealing fuel from St Clare Hospice has been freed after Appeal Court judges ruled his conviction was unsafe.

Jake Seaton, 22, of Barn Mead, Harlow, was jailed for 21 months after being found guilty of the theft of diesel oil from the hospice at Hastingwood, a charge which he denied.

But last Wednesday Lord Justice McCombe quashed his conviction after deciding that crucial identification evidence presented by the prosecution during the original trial should have been excluded.

Mr Seaton was jailed after a jury at Chelmsford Crown Court convicted him of stealing the oil, worth between £1,200-£1,600, from a storage tank in the grounds of the hospice.

CCTV footage showing a man stealing the oil was given to the police and a still image of the suspect was circulated around Harlow police station in the hope that an officer might recognise who it was.

During the original trial the prosecution said Mr Seaton was identified by PC Steve Bowering, who had previous dealings with him.

However, the defence said the identification and "purported recognition" were incorrect and it was a case against Mr Seaton was based on evidence of mistaken identity.

The jury, which also heard evidence from facial mapping experts, found him guilty after four hours of deliberation.

Flawed

Michael Edmonds, representing Mr Seaton at the Appeal Court hearing, said the original trial judge should have excluded the "fundamentally flawed" identification evidence.

He said the image was of poor quality and argued there had been breaches of the Police and Criminal Evidence Act code.

As a result of that, Mr Seaton had no case to answer and the prosecution case should have been thrown out.

But Raj Joshi, appearing for the Crown, said the police officer who identified Mr Seaton from the image was adamant and "100 per cent sure" he was the man in the image.

In his ruling, Lord Justice McCombe said the officer was shown the image taken from the CCTV footage on June 6 but did not make a statement until three days later.

A second statement highlighted Mr Seaton's most distinguishing feature as his "pointy nose" but this had not been mentioned at all in the first statement.

The judge, sitting with Mr Justice Blake and Judge Paul Batty, said they accepted there had been breaches of the code. These included a failure to take a contemporaneous note of the identification and to record the reasons for the recognition.

He ruled the identification evidence should have been excluded and a defence application to throw out the charge should also have succeeded.

"We consider this conviction is unsafe," he added. "The appeal is allowed and we quash the conviction."

Speaking after the hearing, lawyers for the Crown confirmed there would be no application for a retrial.

MP: A need for speed to regenerate town centre

Halfon says plans for improvements must be treated as urgent

William Mata

william.mata@hertsessexnews.co.uk

THE regeneration of the town centre must be treated as a matter of urgency if it is to survive and thrive commercially, according to MP Robert Halfon.

The speed of change was a fundamental issue which had to be addressed by Harlow Council, he said this week, adding that he welcomed plans already unveiled by the authority to improve the area.

"Urgent regeneration and works need to be done," said Mr Halfon. "Personally I would like to knock down the concrete car parks, rebuild the Market Square and see lots of cafes move in. I think it could resemble Covent Garden."

"I am in touch with leaders of the council about their plans and also with Cllr Andrew Johnson, who is leading the Save Harlow Town Centre campaign."

"I thought the ideas of Harlow Council were good and the Harvey Centre developments [which include a new cinema and restaurants] will be amazing."

Earlier this month Cllr Tony Durcan, the council's portfolio holder for regeneration and enterprise, spoke about plans for the town centre including more seating, improved lighting and the development of green space in Market Square and Broad Walk.

However, Mr Halfon expressed frustration at the speed of development, adding that funding would be one of the factors.

"Nothing happens without money and money will not come until we have new housing," he said. "Business rates are also key and this should be aided by major Government reform.

"The town centre issue has gone on for years and I don't want to see Harlow remain underdeveloped. We need a big vision and to think outside of the box. We need a radical change."

"This is a fundamental issue as this is the area of the town Harlow is most famous for."

Mr Halfon made his comments while visiting the town centre with his cousin Edward Woolf, who along with his father Horace used to run a gentleman's outfitters shop in East Gate.

The store, which was opened by comedian Arthur Askey in 1956, shut its doors for the final time in 1984 and it was the first time Mr Woolf, 67, who lives in north London, had returned to the town since then.

"The type of people in Harlow have not changed at all," said Mr Woolf, "but the type of shop has changed. There is a mixture of chains and independent retailers. This part of town used to be the most popular when I was here but now I can see that Broad Walk has the most shoppers."

During their visit Mr Halfon and Mr Woolf met florist Bernard Chapman, the town centre's longest-serving trader who started his business in the same year the Woolfs opened their shop.

What you think

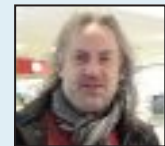

"I would like to see a new Marks and Spencer. There is nowhere for the older generation to buy clothes these days. We have to go to Bishop's Stortford or Epping."

Aaron Bubbs
Harlow

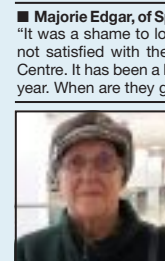

Maureen Shields, of The Stow, Harlow, said: "There is no cohesion with the thinking. Harlow Council have got to stop saying what they cannot do and start saying what they will do."

"I think a new cinema in the town centre is a good idea and I think the key is to bring the Market Square in line with the rest of the town."

Lee Joyce
Canons Brook, Harlow

Majorie Edgar, of Spencers Croft, Harlow, said: "It was a shame to lose Marks and Spencer. I'm not satisfied with the new shops in the Harvey Centre. It has been a building site for more than a year. When are they going to open?"

"I love Harlow but I think there needs to be new developments in the town centre. A new food shop would be nice."

Parents warned over flu

Health experts offer advice

PARENTS in Harlow are being urged to keep an eye on their children for the first symptoms of flu.

Health chiefs in west Essex have issued a checklist of symptoms in a bid to make it easier to identify when the coughs and sneezes which do rounds in schools and nurseries could be something more serious.

In most cases a runny or blocked nose, sore throat, sneezing and a cough are the result of a common cold, but sudden fever, muscle aches, sweating, exhaustion and a dry or chesty cough could be a sign of flu.

And while many people think of flu as just a bad cold, it can cause serious complications and every year there are children who become extremely ill.

One way to protect youngsters from flu is by vaccination. Free flu jabs are still available from GP surgeries and those eligible include children aged two, three or four as well as those in school years one and two.

Older children with specific medical conditions such as asthma or diabetes should also be vaccinated. For younger children the vaccine is administered in the form of a nasal spray rather than an injection.

Harlow GP Dr Rob Gerlis, who is also chair of West Essex Clinical Commissioning Group, said: "If your child is showing symptoms of a cold or flu, the best thing you can do is make sure they have lots of rest and fluids.

"Talk to a pharmacist about over-the-counter remedies as antibiotics will not help. Keep them home and away from friends or family members who are over 65, are pregnant or have a long-term condition so they do not pass it on.

"And if you need advice when the pharmacists are closed call 111 to talk to the NHS."

Body found in woodland is thought to be missing OAP

THE search for a pensioner who went missing from his Essex home three months ago was suspended at the weekend after a body was found in woodland.

Dementia sufferer Gordon Wilson, 82, left his home in Leaden Roding on Sunday, October 25, sparking a major search operation.

On Saturday police announced they were suspending the search following the discovery of a body by a member of the public in woods near the village of Sible Hedingham.

Police said this week Mr Wilson's family had been informed and the death was not being SEARCH: Gordon Wilson treated as suspicious.

There had been no formal identification of the body as the Star went to press.

During the search for Mr Wilson a number of people from Harlow joined a group of more than 30 volunteers who turned out to help check rural areas.

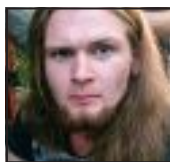

Burglars bag jewellery and a car during same-day break-ins

A CAR and various items of jewellery were stolen when burglars broke into three houses in Harlow on the same day.

Two properties in Halling Hill and one in Great Plumtree were targeted last Tuesday (January 21).

The black Vauxhall Insignia was stolen from outside one of the houses in Halling Hill.

Police are appealing to anyone with information about the burglaries to contact PC Russell Hinkins on the Essex Police 101 non-emergency number or Crimestoppers on 0800 555111.

VICTIM: Jon Aicken

Three more arrests over fatal motorbike accident

THREE more people have been arrested in connection with the death of a Harlow motorcyclist in an accident on Christmas Eve a year ago.

Jon Aicken, known to his friends as Panda, died in the early hours of December 24, 2014, following a collision with a vehicle in Tyllers Road, Roydon.

A 25-year-old woman from Hatfield arrested soon of the accident is currently on bail until March 11 for alleged offences relating to the collision and on suspicion of perverting the course of justice.

Now police have arrested two men, one from Hatfield and the other from Waltham Abbey, and a woman, also from Hatfield, on suspicion of perverting the course of justice.

Two have been bailed until March 11 and the third until March 13.

The ancient forest that lies beneath the waves

THE hidden remains of an ancient forest which is believed to be up to 6,000 years old have been uncovered on a beach in Cornwall.

The pre-historic woodland near the village and fishing port of Portreath was submerged by the sea when water levels rose around that part of the English coast.

Every few years the stumps of the trees appear to rise from their watery grave when a combination of winter storms and unusually low tides push back the sand on the seabed which covers them.

It happened again last week and hundreds flocked to the site to see the remains. "It's amazing to think that thousands of years ago it was a forest," said a spokesman for the Portreath Association. "The whole landscape of this area would have been completely unrecognisable from what it is like today."

He added: "It's an impressive sight. You can see the roots and the branches and it's very interesting to look at."

Timewasters are still problem for ambulance trust

Service reveals details of 'inappropriate' calls

William Mata

william.mata@hertsessexnews.co.uk

A WOMAN who found a critically injured cat on her property and a man who felt sick after drinking a fizzy drink too quickly are two of the time-wasting 999 calls made to the ambulance trust serving Essex.

Despite a campaign last April to stop non-emergencies being reported, the East of England Ambulance Service Trust said it was disappointed at the number of "inappropriate" calls it receives.

It has released a new list of calls which include:

- A woman in Essex who needed help cleaning her toilet
- A man in north Cambridgeshire who needed assistance with his passport
- A man in Cambridgeshire who had been scratched by a cat
- A woman in Norwich who panicked after drinking two energy drinks.

"It's extremely disappointing that people continue to call 999 for inappropriate reasons," said Gary Morgan, EEA's head of emergency operations centres.

PLEA: The East of England Ambulance Service Trust has appealed for an end to time-wasting calls such as those from a person with an injured cat and a toilet which was dirty

"We urge them to think twice about calling the emergency ambulance service if it is not a life-threatening or serious medical emergency."

"We want to help people and that's what we're here to do, but every call we get that isn't a genuine problem for us is a call which takes away from someone who needs help fast."

Foul and abusive language is another daily reality for EEA's call handlers. One woman was sworn at 15 times during a four-minute call as she tried to establish the exact location of the emergency taking place.

Mr Morgan said: "People often call us in times of distress and deep despair, but that's no excuse for the kind of language we receive from some callers."

"It's very important that callers listen to the questions they're being asked and answer them clearly so that we can help them as quickly as possible."

Wedding trends for 2016

Clare Youell on the latest wedding trend - metallic

THE New Year is here and it's out with the old and in with the new in the wedding industry.

This means it's all change again for wedding trends as fresh ideas for dress styles, cakes and reception décor start to seep through.

So what can you expect to see if you're either planning your own nuptials this year or attending someone else's big day?

The bridal catwalks in the latter part of last year were full of fabulous features that many brides will welcome.

Spring trends are expected to include flattering, plunging necklines, pretty 3D floral details and even feathers.

DRESSES

There's definitely a trend towards flashing a bit of flesh on your wedding day even though it's done in a tasteful way.

Deep necklines are definitely around as are exposed backs, going as low as you dare.

The 3D details were everywhere including little flowers and butterflies attached to the main dress.

Feathers were seen covering the entire skirt of bridal gowns or as fluttery trims. Blush is back and floral prints are rearing their heads too.

RECEPTION/DÉCOR

Metallics will still be huge this year; they are predicted to be everywhere.

They'll make it onto the centrepieces, the invites, the cake trimming and more.

Colour-wise, pastel, almost powder blue has been seen around and is expected to make its mark.

Also back are circus-inspired brights such as strong yellow, red, and blue, which may be continued into the reception with entertainment such as jugglers, magicians, sweet and popcorn carts.

Aerial photography is increasingly popular – make sure you speak to your photographer and venue about the scope for this if you're planning your wedding.

If you're a guest, don't think you'll get away with one shot by the lake, you'll probably be expected to pose for various aerial photos too.

CAKES

Cake trends are often only second to wedding dress fashions when it comes to the wow factor. So what's in store for those with a sweet tooth in 2016?

Florals are in again with a layer of multi-coloured sugar flowers carpeted over the cake.

Spare a thought for the bakers as ruffled cakes are in too, with the intricately-designed icing looking like the skirt on a ruffled wedding dress.

Metallics details are in too to match the popular theme for this year.

This isn't for everyone but believe it or not 'naked' cakes will be cropping up again this year too – that is cakes without any fondant. Expect to see three-tiered Victoria sandwich cakes which tie in nicely with a rustic theme.

Some happy couples will be moving even further away from traditional seating patterns this year too.

The traditional, 'conference' feel of a top table and a cluster of round tables is fading a little, with a move towards long, rectangular tables or a mix of rectangle, square and circle tables for those who want that casual vibe.

FLOWERS

As expected, the trends from other aspects of your big day spill over into the floral arrangements too.

So 'naked' bouquets made up of nudes/peaches/creams will be apparent, as will brights such as vibrant yellows and reds.

Interesting foliage is in demand too and luckily there is grey, purple and red foliage available – not just green.

For floral arrangements at your reception, you'll see more pieces suspended above the tables with barely-there wires, in keeping with the rustic feel.

And of course, metallics, metallics, metallics.

Gallery shows off the very best artistic Harlow has to offer

A VARIETY of artworks are being paraded in an exhibition that celebrates the best Harlow has to offer.

Harlow Open 16 is being held at the Gibberd Gallery until February 26, with all exhibits being produced from artists who have lived, worked or studied locally.

The 91 works, from 60 artists, are unique and of a high standard. Forms vary from portraits, to landscapes to modern art and sculptures.

A special viewing allowed judges to rank exhibits based on technique, subject and imagination with a prize ceremony for the winners.

Jane Stobart was presented with the award for best in show by High Sheriff of Essex Vincent Thompson.

Ms Stobart's work Selecting the Bell Jar came out ahead of Fiona Bennett and Mike Coombs for On the Line and Matt Solomon for Construct 0-10.

All the works are still on display at the Water Gardens gallery which opens Monday to Friday from 9am to 4.45pm.

In addition, art lovers can enjoy a talk from writer and curator Robert Priseman called Being a Painter in 21st Century Britain.

For more information, visit www.gibberdgallery.co.uk.

Bee Gees remembered

DISCO is Staying Alive thanks to a tribute band that takes audiences back to the 1970s.

The Bee Gees – Nights on Broadway presents an unrivalled replica of the Gibb brothers, who grew from squabbling siblings to world superstars.

The seven-piece band from Ireland do the Gibb brothers proud with their tribute show which includes, harmonies, duets and costume changes.

The touring show gives fans the chance to enjoy the Bee Gees music one more time while the timelessness of their songs has younger audience members singing along.

Night Fever, You Should be Dancing, Tragedy and of course hit Staying Alive will all be performed.

Guest stars will complement the main performance, as the Bee Gees also wrote songs for Barbara Streisand, Celine Dion and Diana Ross. Female singers join the band to perform Ross' Chain Reaction, All the Love in the World by Dionne Warwick and I Will be There by Tina Turner.

What makes Nights on Broadway stand out among other tributes is the depth of the storytelling. The show goes beyond the band's chart success and looks at how Maurice, Barry and Robin Gibb formed in 1958 and very nearly broke up after a falling out.

But through the 1960s, the band really hit their stride and had success lasting four decades with their final studio album This is Where I Came In, released in 2001.

The Bee Gees' story came to an end in 2003 with the death of Maurice and later stopped touring after Robin died in 2012.

During their career, The Bee Gees released 22 studio albums and secured five UK number ones while touring the world and appearing on TV countless times.

The influence of the three brothers from Manchester via Redcliffe, Australia, can be traced in much of modern pop music.

Now their dance-floor fillers, acoustic melodies and catchy pop hits can still be celebrated in a live setting thanks to Nights on Broadway.

■ The Bee Gees Story – Nights on Broadway will be performed at Harlow Playhouse on Friday, February 12. Tickets cost £16-19 and are available from www.playhouseharlow.com.

No doubt that Dane sees the funny side

Duo team up for exhibition

AWARD-winning director Eran Creevey opens a new quirky collection of painting and ceramic works in at The Gallery in Parndon Mill.

The Recent Work exhibition features paintings by Chris Roskell and ceramics by Nigel Earle.

The opening of the gallery was attended the BAFTA award-winning director who took time out from his new project Collide which stars Nicholas Hoult, Felicity Jones, Anthony Hopkins and Ben Kingsley.

For Chris, who for many years was a resident artist at Parndon Mill, his latest brightly coloured modern art was influenced by a move to Hastings in Sussex.

"I look for situations that I recognise from my visual and emotional experience," said Chris about his creative process.

"I then look to develop them within the arena of the canvass. Since moving from East Anglia to the South Coast the stimulus has changed, the work has changed."

Nigel lives and works in Hertford and his latest range of beautifully crafted works is influenced by former careers in a range of fields.

"I originally trained as a product designer, graduating from the Royal College of Art in 1973," he said.

"After a career that has taken in many fields of design and art, from computer graphics to art screenprints, I have now happily returned to 3D work with ceramics."

Recent Work paintings by Chris Roskell complemented by Ceramics by Nigel Earle will be exhibited at The Gallery Parndon Mill until Sunday, February 21. For more details visit: www.parndonmill.co.uk.

THE debut tour from Sweat the Small Stuff comedian Dane Baptiste reveals the fears of a clown.

His stand-up show, Reasonable Doubts, takes in Harlow Playhouse in March on an early stop of his nationwide series.

"The name is influenced by Jay-Z's first album - I'm a bit of a fan - but also the state of mind we can often find ourselves in," he said.

"It's about the worries I have, about my career and wondering if things are going to work out. But also bigger things like whether there will be an apocalypse.

"I'm always up at night thinking about stuff. Should I have a house by now? Should I have a mortgage? Should I be a vegan?"

"I'd like to be a vegan, but it might not be practical in the same way that I'd like to give up McDonald's but wonder where else is open that late at night for food.

"We complain about the effects of corporations on our lives, but there's no way we could avoid them, short of moving into the mountains or becoming a hermit.

"These are all genuine concerns people in London have."

Dane is self-deprecating but engaged, political and is particularly outspoken about issues of injustice.

This is the man, after all, who started his Live at the Apollo routine by saying: "I'm happy to be here and help the BBC fulfil their diversity quota."

The child of Grenadian parents, Dane has had to overcome barriers of inequality to rise up the ranks as a comedian.

However, it is not just the issue of race that fuels Dane's inferno as the 34-year-old sees injustice in all walks of life.

"The housing situation is so bad at the moment that people are actually tied down to a mortgage. They are imprisoned in their house.

"University is so expensive that people will come out and, unless they are super-rich, have no money at all and wonder why they bothered. I studied business at university and I had to move back in with my parents."

This issue is explored more in Dane's sitcom Sunny D, which is due to air on BBC Three later this year following a successful pilot.

Dane plays Dane, an ambitious, frustrated and very funny 29-year-old who is living at home.

"Yeah, the character is pretty much based on myself and my experiences, I'm not going to deny that," he laughed. "It's like a more staged [version] of some of the experiences I've had.

"It's my first experience doing acting. In some ways it's easier than stand-up as you can do scenes again and again. But in other ways it's harder as you have to make sure everything's perfect."

While he explores a lot of his life on stage and in the TV sitcom, Dane is conscious of not wanting to reveal too much about his personal life.

Another one of his doubts is if he can ever have a successful relationship as people live a lot longer in the 21st century than in previous times.

"I often think it's reasonable to talk about marriage in the same way we did years ago. People live for a long time these days, is it any wonder affairs happen?"

"But I don't talk too much about ex-girlfriends, as I know some of that could come back to haunt me."

He added: "I worked in sales for years after university. Comedy was just something that I enjoyed doing and was a tool to talk to women. It was something I thought I'd never take any further - but I got so frustrated with business.

"We were being told about using nepotism as a way of getting people to buy things they didn't really want. In the end I decided I just wanted to follow my dream.

"I've been a full-time comedian for two-and-a-half years now. It's been tough. There was a stage when I had no money and I would have to wait until 11pm for when the Tube barriers would be open to get back from a show."

After Dane's tough ride to the top he could be excused for having a few perfectly reasonable doubts about the world - but one could never doubt his ability.

■ Dane Baptiste will perform Reasonable Doubts at Harlow Playhouse on Saturday, March 5. Tickets start at £10. For booking and details, visit www.playhouseharlow.com

Asking difficult questions

Spotlight

DRAMA: (15) 129 mins
Director: Thomas McCarthy
Starring: Michael Keaton, Mark Ruffalo, Rachel McAdams, Liev Schreiber, John Slattery, Brian d'Arcy, Stanley Tucci, Billy Crudup

At its best, investigative journalism is a scalpel that slices through fatty rhetoric and cuts readers through to the bones of institutions that should be defending our interests.

In early 2002, the Spotlight Investigations team of the Boston Globe ran a series of meticulously researched articles, exposing the sexual abuse of minors in the Boston archdiocese.

Coverage of the scandal rippled far beyond the city and compelled other victims to come forward, which sent shockwaves through the Roman Catholic church.

The newspaper was subsequently awarded the 2003 Pulitzer Prize for Public Service in Journalism for its courageous and comprehensive coverage, which lifted a heavy veil of secrecy stretching back several decades.

Thomas McCarthy's impeccably-crafted drama pays tribute to the close-knit team of tenacious editors and reporters who tirelessly pursued the ugly truth and wrung their sweat and tears into the exposés.

Deputy managing editor Ben Bradlee Jr (John Slattery) presides over the Boston Globe newsroom and has direct responsibility for the Spotlight team led by Walter "Robby" Robinson (Michael Keaton).

Down in the basement, Robby and colleagues Michael Rezendes (Mark Ruffalo), Sacha Pfeiffer (Rachel McAdams) and Matt Carroll (Brian d'Arcy) invest thousands of man hours following leads.

Their work is valuable, but costly, and incoming Boston Globe editor Marty Baron (Liev Schreiber) makes clear he is willing to make difficult cuts.

"I'm focused on finding a way to make this paper essential to its readers," he tells Robby.

Meanwhile, the team is mired in a potentially explosive story. Attorney Mitchell Garabedian (Stanley Tucci) claims to have documents which prove Cardinal Bernard Law (Len Cariou) knew about abuse within the diocese and did nothing.

Marty authorises Robby to quietly pursue the story before he is personally summoned to a meeting with the Cardinal.

"I find that this city flourishes when its great institutions work together," purrs the holy man.

"I'm of the opinion that for the paper to best perform its function, it needs to stand alone," boldly retorts Marty.

Battle lines are drawn.

PETS CORNER

Healthy resolutions for pets

MANY of us have made resolutions to be healthier in the new year by eating well and exercising more regularly. However, our beloved pets also need to follow certain recommendations in order to maintain good health.

Veterinary bills are rising year after year, with the average UK vet bill set at over £300. Head of training at Pets Corner Lucy Ross provides her top tips for keeping your pets happy and healthy throughout 2016 and beyond:

■ Protect pets from the cold weather: It is important that pets are kept warm and sheltered from the cold during the winter months. Furry friends that are housed outside will acclimatise during the colder months and build up a warm thick coat. Animals should therefore not be brought inside for the night and put out again during the day as this may cause them to moult – causing them stress and making them vulnerable to the cold.

■ Keep an eye on your pet's diet: Over a third of pet owners use 'human' food to treat their pets, without knowing that such foods can be too high in fat and potentially toxic. Certain human foods may appear perfectly fine to feed your animals, but in actual fact are dangerous and potentially lethal. Grapes, nuts, onion and avocado are among these foods since they contain toxins and compounds that can cause severe damage such as heart congestion and toxicity.

Cooked bones are often mistaken as a healthy treat to give cats and dogs. When given in their cooked state bones have a reduced moisture content and become brittle and can splinter harshly. Raw bones are safer to give your pets since they have a different molecular structure to cooked bones that allow flexibility as well as providing essential fats and vitamins that keep your pets happy and healthy.

■ Balance treats with exercise: Over feeding our furry friends has become a big problem in the UK, with 68 per cent of owners not following professional guidelines for portion sizes. An increase in weight can be dangerous to your pet's health and can even shorten the lives of animals. Being aware of the size of your animal in relation to the amount of food they eat can help pets to maintain a healthy lifestyle. Small dogs have a much higher energy requirement due to their higher ratio of surface area to body weight and therefore require high calorie content food. Feeding should be balanced with regular exercise, therefore adult pooches should have at least 30 minutes of exercise every day in order to maintain a healthy lifestyle.

Watch the birdies

The RSPB's Big Garden Birdwatch this weekend is your chance to take part in one of the world's biggest nature surveys without leaving home

Make yourself a cuppa, pull up a chair and take part in one of the world's largest wildlife surveys from the comfort of your own home this weekend. More than half a million people are expected to watch and count their garden birds for this year's RSPB Big Garden Birdwatch on Saturday and Sunday, January 30-31.

The world's largest garden wildlife survey, now in its 37th year, has provided valuable information about the changes in numbers of birds using our gardens in winter.

Continuing declines include starlings and song thrushes, which have dropped by an alarming 80 and 70 per cent respectively since the Birdwatch began in 1979.

There is slightly better news for the house sparrow, as its long-term decline appears to have continued to slow, and it remains the most commonly spotted bird in our gardens. However, its numbers have dropped by 57 per cent since 1979.

Daniel Hayhow, RSPB

conservation scientist said: "Last year's survey saw more than eight-and-a-half million birds spotted, making it another great year for participation. With more than half a million people now regularly taking part, coupled with more than 30 years worth of data, Big Garden Birdwatch allows us to monitor trends and helps us understand how birds are doing.

"As the format of the survey has stayed the same, the scientific data can be compared year-on-year, making your results very valuable. With results from so many gardens, we are able to create a 'snapshot' of bird numbers across the UK. Once we know which birds are in trouble, together we can ensure that our garden wildlife will be around forever."

As well as counting their feathered friends, the RSPB is also asking participants to log some of the other wildlife they see in their gardens and green spaces such as hedgehogs, foxes, stoats and squirrels, to help build an overall picture of how important they are for giving nature a home.

Daniel added: "The threats to our wildlife mean that it's facing tough times. For example it is estimated that we've lost more than half of our hedgehogs in the last 50 years. We're going to include this part of the survey every year now, enabling us to monitor the distribution of our other wildlife as well as trends in bird numbers."

The survey is part of the RSPB's Giving Nature a Home campaign, aimed at tackling the housing crisis facing the UK's threatened wildlife. The RSPB is asking people to provide a place for wildlife in their own gardens and outside spaces – whether it's putting up a nest box for birds, creating a pond to support a number of different species or building a home for a hedgehog. The Big Garden Birdwatch is just one of the steps you can take to help nature near you.

Old home with period details

NORTH House is an immensely characterful, detached, grade II listed three- or four-bedroom family home believed to date back to the early 18th century.

The property is centrally located in Stansted Mountfitchet and within walking distance of local shops, schools and the mainline railway station.

There are a large number of attractive internal period features including exposed timbers, large open fireplaces and sash windows.

The accommodation is arranged over three floors and comprises a dual-aspect sitting room with an open fireplace, dining room with inglenook fireplace and log burner, music room, shaker-style fitted kitchen with a mixture of wood and granite work surfaces, integrated appliances and a door leading to a utility/downstairs cloakroom with a useful storage cupboard.

The first-floor landing leads to three good-size bedrooms and a refitted family bathroom. From bedroom two there is a staircase leading to the attic room which is 27ft long and is split into a bedroom and home office.

To the front of the property there are wrought iron railings and an enclosed front garden. A side pedestrian access leads to the rear garden, which extends to around 50ft and is mainly laid to lawn with a variety of flowers and shrub beds. There is a large timber sun terrace at the back of the house, raised vegetable planters and a greenhouse.

To the rear of the garden is a large, detached timber-framed garage with parking.

10 SECOND REVIEW:

Until the arrival of this Tucson model, Hyundai's idea of a Qashqai-style family crossover model was encapsulated by its ix35. That car sold quite well but somehow, never quite captured the imagination of the buying public. The Tucson though, is a leaner, meaner-looking contender that might well catapult the Korean brand into credible contention in this important growing segment.

Still, this is a much more appealing product, offered with and without 4WD and with a wide range of efficient petrol and diesel engines. Let's check it out.

People have come to expect a lot when it comes to driving crossover cars. Although they want a lofty perch, they also want to feel like they could be driving a hatchback. The Tucson delivers exactly this blend of virtues, hence its very road-biased suspension setup – and the overwhelming emphasis on two-wheel drive models across the range.

We'll be driving this car soon but early indications are that all bases are covered when it comes to engines with a good selection of both petrols and diesels. At the lower end of the range, there's a choice of a 132PS 1.6 GDi petrol or a 116PS CRDi 1.7 diesel. Move a little higher and you can upgrade to a turbocharged 1.6 GDi with 177PS. Diesel fans will find a 2.0 CRDi with either 136PS or 185PS. If you want 4WD, then you'll need the turbo petrol or one of the 2.0-litre diesels.

That 4WD system is fine for slippery surfaces but don't expect a great deal of mud plugging ability. As usual with Hyundai models, there's the option of varying the feel of the steering feedback, via different modes.

It's in this area that Hyundai has arguably made the biggest step forward. With an imposing hexagonal grille and sleek Santa Fe-style headlights, the Tucson is a good looking crossover. The wheelarches are pulled backwards which, along with the rising windowline and prominent creases in the flanks, adds some athleticism to the side profile. The overall look may not be as overt as you'd find with some rivals but you could never call it dull and the effect is especially nice with the 19" wheels fitted to Premium models.

Climb aboard and the overall fit and finish is a big improvement on the ix35, with a well laid out (if unadventurous) dashboard with a hint of BMW X3 about it. If you find the interior a little dark, then there's the option of a cream lower half to the fascia which does brighten things up significantly. Mechanically, it's all very conventional which is no bad thing but does mean the Tucson can weigh in excess of 1500kg before you've even sat in the driver's seat. With 513-litres of seat up boot space available (or slightly less if you go for 4WD), the Tucson comfortably beats Nissan Qashqai and Renault Kadjar direct rivals.

Fold the seats down and this capacity increases to 1503-litres (or 25-litres less for 4WD). Rear seat space is good, although the rear doors are a little on the small side.

The range may start at less than £19,000 but it's very easy to spend an awful lot more. That price gets you entry level S trim with the non-turbo 1.6 petrol engine. Spend another £1,500 or so and you can opt for the 1.7 CRDi diesel. If you want the bigger diesel, then you'll need to look at 'sE Nav' trim at just over £24,000, with a further 4WD option adding nearly £2,000 more. If you want auto transmission or the higher output 185PS diesel and 177PS petrol engines, you'll have to pay for 4WD. All this means it's quite possible to spend well over £30,000 on your Tucson. Still, a rival Nissan Qashqai 4WD model could also top that figure with a few options added, so perhaps we shouldn't be too shocked.

Even base 's' trim comes with kit like a DAB digital radio and Bluetooth connectivity, plus USB and AUX connections, 16" alloy wheels, air conditioning and auto headlights. Next up is the 'sE' grade which adds 17" alloy wheels, rear parking sensors, heated front seats and dual zone climate control, plus the option of an 8" touchscreen sat nav system. Plush 'Premium' trim includes sat nav as standard, plus 19" alloy wheels, leather seats, front parking sensors, auto wipers and heated rear seats. Finally the top 'Premium SE' grade adds a heated wheel, keyless entry, a Smart Parking Assist System on autos, an electric tailgate, LED headlights, an opening panoramic glass roof and ventilated front seats.

All models get six airbags, ABS with brake assist, traction and stability control. Plusher models gain a Lane Keep Assist System (LKAS), Rear Cross Traffic Alert Autonomous Emergency Braking (AEB) and Blind Spot Detection (BSD). The higher the model, the safer you'll be.

The Tucson can't quite match some of its rivals when it comes to running costs. Still, carbon emissions are rated at a reasonable-sounding 119g/km if you opt for the 1.7 diesel. Go for the 2.0 136PS model and this creeps up slightly to 127g/km:

add 4WD and you add 12g/km. The 185PS diesel offers a best of 154g/km thanks to standard 4WD, whilst the biggest sinner is the petrol turbo at 177g/km. Opt for the dual clutch gearbox however and this figure actually drops to 175g/km. As with the rest of the range, a 5 year unlimited mileage warranty is included with a 3 or 5 year fixed price servicing deal an option.

VERDICT: So, what do we have? The tough looks of an SUV, the sensible practicality of a five-seater mini-MPV and the affordability of a family hatchback.

These are the facts behind a Tucson model good enough to attract many new buyers to the Hyundai brand.

It's nicely built, efficient to run and quite capable in 4WD form of getting everywhere any ordinary family driver might want to go. No, it's not perfect – a class-leading family hatch might offer slightly sharper handling and better all-round visibility.

More important will be this model's competitive pricing and lengthy warranty. It's a Hyundai of the modern era. And that makes it a very impressive car.

The road will be closed to facilitate each phase and then re-opened to the public. Access will be maintained for pedestrians and emergency services. Diversion routes will be signed at each location and residents will be informed of the dates of each phase via letter/leaflet drop and advanced warning signs on the road. Information will also be available on <http://roadworks.org/>

Phase One

Pre-surface patching works. These works comprise filling any surface defects and raising/replacing worn iron works (manhole covers and gulleys) as well as removal of cat's eyes if present.

Phase Two

Surface dressing. The process entails spraying the road with bitumen and covering it with granite chippings, after which the road is then rolled, which along with the action of the traffic, embeds the chippings into the surface. The road will be swept within 48 hours and after 7 days. The bitumen part of the surface dressing as well as securing the chippings to the existing surface will seal the old road surface, thus preventing the ingress of water which causes deterioration of the road surface and will improve skid resistance.

Phase Three

- Reinstatement of white lines if required. Reinstatement of any road markings.
- Reinstatement of any road studs.

For all enquiries please contact our Contact Centre on 0345 603 7631.

The Order will come into effect on 1st February 2016 and may continue in force for 18 months or until the works have been completed, whichever is the earlier.

Liz Burr, Head of Network Management, County Hall, Chelmsford

Harlow athletes seal Essex inter-counties selection

FIVE talented young athletes from Harlow Athletic Club's elite junior endurance squad competed at the Essex Schools Cross Country Championships at Hilly Fields in Colchester on Saturday.

The athletes were all representing the West Essex Schools district, having been selected following the Harlow district schools championships earlier in the season.

In the junior girls' 3.3km race, Charlotte Pratt finished in a fantastic eighth place (14min 21sec) with Savanna Sirkett finishing in 34th place (15:16).

Charlotte's fine run has gained her automatic selection to represent the Essex Schools team at the South East Schools Inter Counties Cross Country Championships on February 6.

Charlotte is waiting to see if her run has gained her selection to represent the county at the English Schools Cross Country Championships.

In the junior boys' 4.3km race, Joe Morgan bravely ran after being ill all week and still finished in a very credible 28th place (17:20).

In the fiercely competitive intermediate boys' 5.3km race Lewis Harknett ran really well to come home in a superb seventh place (18:53).

He will also represent Essex at the Inter Counties Championships.

He is also waiting to see if his run is quick enough for Essex selection at the English Schools Championships later this season.

His twin brother Owen Harknett was 34th (20:58).

Big Cats seek magical fourth successive win

Trip to Manchester will be ultimate test for Leopards

LEVETT Essex Leopards will aim to make it four straight league wins when they travel to leaders Manchester Magic on Saturday.

A dominant second period wasn't enough to prevent Leopards going down 76-70 when the teams met at Brentwood in November.

Magic have lost only one of their 13 league games this season, and retained the National Cup on Sunday with a 97-84 victory against Worthing Thunder in Sheffield. Paul Middleton's side won the cup and National Trophy last season, finishing as runners-up behind Leopards in Division One and also reaching the play-off final.

Leopards will go into the game full of confidence after a stunning 72-70 comeback win against Reading Rockets on Saturday.

A big crowd at Harlow Leisurezone saw the Big Cats fight back from a 17-point first-half deficit to snatch victory against their oldest rivals.

Glory

Against a physically imposing Rockets team, it was the smallest player on the floor who grabbed the glory as Dougie Bennett scored off Ladi Brown's assist with under a second on the clock to seal the win.

Even after the Big Cats had fought back from a big deficit, the visitors looked likely to take the win as they had the ball with 7.3 seconds remaining, but D'Montre Edwards' shot rimmed out and Brown grabbed his tenth rebound of the game before setting Bennett up for the winner.

Will Ashby led a balanced scoring effort for a Leopards team missing Tom Martin, Connor Stuart and Evan Walshe with 18 points, while Brown finished with 15. Jamie Hayes took advantage of the extra minutes available due to Stuart's absence to finish with a season-high 11 points, with Justin Hitchman adding nine and five boards, Courtney van Beest eight points and captain Albert Margai six points.

15-POINT HAUL: Essex Leopards' Ladi Brown shoots for the basket against Reading Rockets

Such a win had looked unlikely in the opening stages as Rockets scored the first six points before Van Beest got them off the mark after 80 seconds, but a pair of treys from Reading captain Danny Carter put his side 16-4 up with just over four minutes gone.

Brown ended Leopards' drought and a pair of Brian Nguru points helped the Big Cats go on an 8-0 run to cut the deficit to 19-15 at the first break.

But despite struggling at the foul line, Reading opened the second period strongly with only an Ashby three disrupting a 15-3 run and former GB U20 international Ben Allinson made it 37-20 with just under three first-half minutes remaining.

Rockets took a 39-24 lead into the locker room at half-time.

Brown hit a trey to make it an 11-point game early in the second half and there was little to choose between the two sides in the third period as, despite further treys from Brown and Bennett, the visitors went into the final break 57-46 ahead.

The key run came at the start of the fourth period as Brown hit a pair of jump shots to spark a 10-2 tear that dragged Leopards back into the game and a pair of free-throws from Margai gave them their first lead of the game with 4:54 on the clock to set up the thrilling finish.

England debut for Canaan, 17

CANAAN SOLOMON has been selected to represent the senior England team in an international meeting next Sunday in the Slovakian capital of Bratislava.

The 17-year-old Harlow College student will fly out on Saturday and compete over 1500m in the indoors tournament.

Meanwhile, Sidnie Ward, 13, a Burnt Mill Academy student, will make his All England Schools Cross Country Championships debut at Wollaton Park, Nottingham on March 5.

He got the nod from selectors after securing a fine third place in the Essex Schools Cross Country Championships at Colchester last Saturday.

Sidnie was just ten seconds behind Leon Wheeler, who set a course record time of 15min 49sec for the 4.4km course.

Behind Sidnie was Burnt Mill school-mate Hayden Maleary. His 12th spot secured an Essex Schools selection for the South East of England Schools' Inter Counties Championships to be held on February at Bexhill.

Kai Boggon, 12, (Passmores), was 34th, while Siena Taylor, 13, (Burnt Mill) was 27th in the junior girls' race.

Maxwell Chinn, ten, travelled to Cardiff to compete in the UK Cross Challenge U11s' race over 1750m.

Maxwell was fourth in 7:16, just 20 seconds behind the winner.

Sid Cody, nine, (Fawbert and Barnard) was 41st in 8:34.

At Lee Valley in the London Indoor Games, Kyesha Robinson, 14, (Burnt Mill) won her U17 girls' race in a PB of 42:14.

This time ranks Kyesha 15th in the UK U17 girls.

She also won the 60m in 8:23. In the latest Harlow parkrun 5K, Liam Waldron, 12, (Burnt Mill) won in 20:00, a PB for that course.

Hawks remove Hornets' sting

THE Hawks continued their winning run with an 84-44 victory away to Thurrock Hornets in Division Two of the Essex County Basketball League.

Alex Hinds started the match on fire with an eight-point haul.

Three pointers from Shab Niaz and Stuart Burgess capped off an 8-0 run as the Hawks built a lead.

Further three pointers from Niaz and Lee Morris in the second quarter were followed by an excellent score from Rimantas Norkeliunas as the visitors led 31-21 at half-time.

Niaz continued to punish Thurrock in the third quarter with a barrage of four consecutive three pointers.

Tom White was also able to knock down a number of jump shots, playing the high post position to perfection.

A 12-2 run forced a time-out from the Hornets coach.

At the end of the third period, the Hawks led 64-32.

In the fourth quarter, it was the turn of Norkeliunas to dominate the scoring, connecting on a number of nifty passes from White.

An 8-0 run put the match beyond the Hornets, while Burgess provided some excellent defence and also chipped in with a decent three pointer.

A late 8-2 Hornets' run cut the deficit but Harlow still triumphed by 40 points.

Moody sets new running club record

COLIN MOODY set a new Harlow Running Club veteran 65 age group record time at the Folksworth 15-mile race in Cambridgeshire.

He was 155th and won the vet 65 age group in 1hr 57min.

In the same race, Jamie Jephcott was 124th out of 421 finishers in 1hr 53min 55sec.

Melbourne in Australia was the sunny parkrun destination for club-mate Jon Steadman.

He completed the Albert parkrun in the Victorian capital in 45th place out of 391 finishers in 21min 80sec.

In the penultimate round of the East Herts and West Essex Cross Country League over a very muddy and very hilly five-mile course hosted by Hoddesdon Triathlon Club, the Harlow women's team outshone the men by finishing first in their league.

The Harlow men were edged out of third place by a solitary point.

Harlow were second team overall in the race and after four races have moved up to second place overall, three points adrift of leaders Ware Joggers.

Harlow's Louise Tankard was fourth out of 72 finishers in the women's race, clocking 40:11 in tricky conditions.

She was followed home by Julia Gardiner, who sealed an excellent fifth in 40:41.

Carinne Jay was eighth in 41:34 and Sharon Wright came home tenth in 42:26.

In the men's race Rich Hynes was fifth out of 128 finishers in a fantastic 32:48.

He was followed by Jared Bethell (7th in 33:38), Alex Smith (20th in 36:27) and Jason Haigh (23rd in 36:38).

Magnificent seven for phenomenal Hawks

Ryman North
Aveley 1
Harlow Tn 2

THE Hawks made it seven league wins on the spin to maintain their pursuit of a play-off place.

Junior Dadson and Piers Wixon struck to give Harlow Town a 2-0 half-time lead and despite a late scare with a consolation from Aveley, Danny Chapman's men were convincing winners.

The Harlow boss was delighted with the performance of summer signing Joe Benjamin, who set up a goal in a rare start for the former Dulwich Hamlet winger.

He said: "Benjy has not played as much as he would have liked this year.

"But his attitude has been spot on and he has worked really hard in training. He deserved his chance.

"I only brought him off because he looked tired, which is only natural. It shows the strength in depth that we have got in all areas."

The win means Harlow are just four points off third-placed Cray Wanderers with three games in hand on the Kent promotion-chasers.

"It was important to get another three points on the board in a very tough place. Aveley had beaten Tilbury [the previous week], who were on an 18-game unbeaten run.

"They were not to be taken lightly. You could not argue that they had more possession but we were more clinical and created more chances."

Harlow took the lead on 14 minutes.

Benjamin's deep cross found Dadson and he steered a header into the path of Wixon who rifled a shot high into the roof of the net.

Harlow's former Reading centre-half Ibrahima Sonko was unlucky not to score a rare goal. His header from a corner on the half-hour mark was cleared off the line.

The Hawks doubled the lead six minutes before the break.

Alex Read stole possession from an Aveley defender and played it out to Dadson, whose angled shot deflected off Perry Dunn and into the net.

Hawks keeper David Hughes did well to deny Abs Seymour who was through on goal just before the break.

Soon after the restart, Hughes made a fantastic save from Seymour, before Sonko cleared the loose ball.

Harlow should have added a third when Layne Eadie's excellent cross found Mario Noto, but the former Boreham Wood midfielder's effort was inches wide of a post with Aveley keeper James Marrable well beaten.

With two minutes remaining, Seymour's shot deflected off a team-mate and wrong-footed Hughes.

This kick-started a tense final period but Harlow held on.

Harlow were last denied three points on December 12 and have lost once in 12 matches.

Kain able to put Rams back in title contention

Harlow hit back but May & Baker cook up late scares

RFU London & South East Division Three North East

Harlow 22
May & Baker 17

RAMS skipper Shaun Roberts paid tribute to two-try hero Kain Claridge as Harlow bounced back from the previous week's disappointing defeat at title-chasing Old Cooperians.

Roberts says number eight Claridge reminds him of former Bishop's Stortford captain Mark McCraith, a key player for the National Two South club for several years.

"They both look strong defensively. They are strong ball carriers and really strong defenders. That's what you get with Kain," said Roberts. "Kain burst on to the scene at 17 or 18.

"He has scored quite a few tries for us.

"He's always in a good position to finish those chances off the back of the scrum, and he's heavily involved in the line-out.

Powerful

"He's a very powerful runner and we are very fortunate to have him.

"His father Peter was a senior first team player.

"He has had offers elsewhere but he wants to play with his mates."

The Rams were coasting and 12 points clear with ten minutes left, so it will be a little concerning that they conceded two late tries to make this match much closer than it should really have been, particularly with leaders Epping Upper Clapton up next on Saturday.

Harlow's early dominance could not be converted into points, while newly-promoted May & Baker missed a kickable penalty on 16 minutes.

But the hosts grabbed their first try on the half-hour mark.

Scott Whitby's darting run saw

CUT AND THRUST: Rams number eight Kain Claridge runs in one of his two tries. (Right) Ryan McGlone celebrates his try the ball find its way to Claridge via Jamie Fricker and the powerful number eight ran through under the posts.

Fly-half Danny Smith converted.

Six minutes later Claridge scored his second converted try to put Harlow in control at 14-0.

May & Baker were reduced to 14 when a flanker was sin-binned for kicking the ball away to prevent Harlow taking a quick penalty.

Whitby took advantage of the extra man by breaking through the centre and passing to winger Ryan McGlone to score in a corner, giving Harlow a healthy 19-0 half-time lead.

In the second half Harlow conceded a converted try and a penalty in the first 15 minutes, making it 19-10.

On 70 minutes Smith slotted a penalty for Harlow, extending their lead to 12 points.

The visitors came back again by sucking in Harlow's backs to the centre of the park and then throwing the ball out wide to score another try.

With the conversion they were within five points of Harlow (22-17).

With five minutes to go Harlow were awarded a kickable penalty but decide to run the ball.

The Rams were unable to break over the May & Baker line and faced a tense last four minutes.

However, the hosts raised their game and held out for the win.

"They are a tough side to break down. They never stop coming at you and never know when they are beaten," said Roberts.

"They put some pressure on us and kept the score a lot closer than it should have been."

Harlow are in fourth spot, ten points behind leaders Epping Upper Clapton ahead of Saturday's clash at Upplands Road.

Penguins start county champs with a bang

Five Essex crowns and 13 podium spots for swimmers

Swimming

by Alan Scott

alan.scott@hertsessexnews.co.uk

HARLOW Penguins opened their 2016 Essex County Championship account with some stunning performances at Basildon's long course pool.

Five club swimmers secured county champion accolades and a further 13 podium performances last weekend.

As well as this, 29 Harlow swimmers made the finals of their events, producing the club's best start to the Championships in many years.

In terms of individual success, Alessandro Rioda was Penguins' stand-out performer, winning the boys' 12 years 100m freestyle in a time of 1min 04.33sec.

He also triumphed in the 100m butterfly in an outstanding race where, with ten metres to go, he produced a fast finish to catch the Redbridge swimmer in the final strokes and snatch victory in a time of 1:13.22.

There's no doubt that Alessandro is developing a reputation for comebacks.

Stormed

In the boys' 11/12 years 4x50m freestyle relay, swimming with club-mates Max McAuliffe, Tyler Jackson and Ben Stringer, he had a near 10m gap to make up on the final leg of the relay but by halfway down the final leg there was no doubt the team would win.

The boys stormed to victory in a time of 2:07.42.

Alessandro also claimed bronze in the 100m backstroke, his fast finale not quite enough to catch the front two.

Carys Brealey confirmed her status as one of the UK's leading junior girl swimmers, in the girls' 12 years 100m breaststroke.

After qualifying only fifth, she dominated the final to claim the county title and produce a massive personal best time of 1:26.72.

Carys also claimed three silver medals over the weekend in the 200m individual medley (2:44.56), 400m freestyle (5:03.99) and the 200m freestyle (2:21.21).

Penguins have great depth in their breaststroke squad, and Caitlin Mascall claimed her first ever county title in the girls' 16 years 200m breaststroke. Her time of 2:53.58 was a new personal best (PB).

Meg Wickham picked up the bronze medal in a time of 2:56.51. Lauren Nelson won her first ever county medal.

She also gained silver in the girls' 15 years 200m breaststroke in a PB of 2:58.08.

Kirsty Vears claimed bronze in the Open 200m breaststroke.

The Harlow boys also have strength in depth in the breaststroke, highlighted by the 14 years 200m event where the club had three finalists.

Silvester Havrillay produced an outstanding 2:47.06 to claim silver.

His time ranks him in the top 24 in the UK in his age group and if maintained will provide him with a national qualifying time.

Also on the podium was Jack Mansfield, who produced a stunning performance to finish third. His time of 2:50.33 ranks him 30th in the UK.

Completing the line-up in the final was Callum Wright who finished seventh.

Harvey Bannister (16 years' 100m breaststroke) won silver in a

PB of 1:15.93.

Not to be outdone by the younger boys, Karl Batorski's time of 1:07.09 secured silver in the men's Open 100m breaststroke.

Just missing out on a medal was Hayden Thomas, who finished fourth in the same event.

Karl and Hayden are part of the Penguins' excellent senior men's team, swimming with Lee Baker and Mason Arnold, they narrowly missed out on a silver medal in the 4x50m medley relay, winning bronze in a time of 1:51.10.

Mason Arnold claimed the club's sixth bronze medal of the Championships, but he had to earn it the hard way achieving a PB of 2:16.82 in the gruelling 200m butterfly.

Head coach Martin Stringer said: "Overall the Championships confirmed the club's continued progress over the last six months.

"With new junior squad coach Nikki Watson joining the club, the junior swimmers are already showing significant improvement and the results speak for themselves."

The Championships continue the weekend of February 6-7.

Title's within Harlow's grasp as Walden are rout of control

HARLOW are potentially three wins away from achieving promotion in Division Six South East of the East Men's Hockey League.

Saturday's 6-1 mauling of hosts Saffron Walden's fifth team, has left them eight points clear at the top.

They are 12 points ahead of third-placed Brentwood thirds, so should wrap up promotion in February.

It has been a phenomenal campaign for the team.

After a few years in the doldrums the club, forced to play matches outside Harlow at Leventhorpe School, are now on the up once again.

It wasn't long before Harlow took control of the game against their lowly opponents.

The first goal came from Benn Hagger with a slick run into the area before slotting home; quickly followed by a trademark Andy Boughtwood finish.

Kim Harvey soon made a blistering run upfield from defence and having crafted his way into the opposition area teed up Adam Ottley, only to be denied at close range.

Arguing

Harlow's third came after Walden spent too long arguing over an umpire's decision. Quick thinking from playmaker Joe Symonds found Solo Castillo unmarked in the area who unselfishly passed to Boughtwood for an open goal.

Walden took advantage of a lapse in concentration and a deft flick from a forward beat keeper Rich Norris close to half-time, finishing into a bottom corner.

After the break, Harlow increased the tempo.

Creative link-up play from Carl Chandler and Stuart Kirk on the right, carved open the opposition. Boughtwood was then on hand to capitalise, firing in from an acute angle between a post and the keeper.

Boughtwood soon added another as Harlow punished every mistake Walden made.

The scoring was complete with ten minutes to go as Castillo hit a post and Hagger was on hand to tap home the rebound.

Luke Krzoska kept Walden at bay late on, marshalling the midfield with Symonds.

Norris made a decent late save to keep the score at 6-1.

Late goal saves Ladies' blushes against bottom club

Essex Women's Hockey League, Premier Division
Romford 0

HARLOW Ladies made it 15 defeats out of 15 for basement club Romford with a late winner.

Having only played one game since early December, the Harlow passing wasn't quite up to scratch.

A good move saw Jo Chambers in the D and her first-time shot was well saved by the Romford keeper.

Rowena Rickett and Georgina Esterhuysen-Smith broke down the left and another shot from Chambers was again well saved.

At half-time, Harlow keeper Laura Hay had rarely been troubled in a goalless first half.

Anita Shearman, in a new central role, had kept the Romford forward quiet and the speedy wingers had been well marshalled by Lara Horrax and Sam Care.

The second half saw Harlow dominate, pushing Romford back into their own half.

Any breaks were quickly shut down by Bethan Spencer.

The passing around the edge of the D was quick and accurate but once in the D the Romford defence shut down any shots.

It looked like the game would end in a draw, but with only two minutes left player of the match Spencer passed to Emma Tweddle on the edge of the D.

She rifled in a reverse stick cross to Esterhuysen-Smith who finished with a first-time shot into the bottom right of the goal.

■ HARLOW Ladies second team won 5-1 against Phoenix in Division Four of the Essex Hockey League.

Despite conceding an own goal, Harlow hit back and forward Laura Maynard struck twice to give them a 2-1 half-time lead.

Maddy Dudson netted her first goal for the club in the second half.

Another two goals were scored by Maynard.

Joint players of the match were Hayley Leach and Maynard.

DERBY DUEL HAS AN ADDED EDGE

Title crunch match beckons as Rams visit Clapton

By Alan Scott

alan.scott@hertssexnews.co.uk

A RIVALRY that dates back more than 50 years has an added edge this Saturday when the Rams visit old foes Epping Upper Clapton.

The table-topping Thornwood Common team, promoted into London Division Three North East last season, know that a derby win will put them at least 14 points clear of fourth-placed Harlow and virtually extinguish their title aspirations.

Clapton triumphed 31-25 in the reverse fixture back in October, when Harlow paid a heavy price for being without influential fly-half and kicker Danny Smith.

He will be back this Saturday and his kicking will be pivotal.

The boggy conditions could favour Harlow's strong forward pack, and skipper Shaun Roberts said Smith and the rest of the Harlow backs can capitalise and make up for that loss.

With up to 16 of the squad having come through the ranks at Ram Gorse – with nine members all part of the same Colts team from ten years ago – Harlow won't need much motivation to beat their old neighbours.

"It's a big game but we have a team of homegrown boys against a team that has gone outside and recruited," said Roberts.

"The advantage that we have played together for a very, very long time means that we tend to give that bit more for each other.

That camaraderie has existed for so long."

From every youth age group upwards, the teams from the old foes have shown passion, desire, hunger and commitment to secure the local bragging rights for their club.

Rivalry

"The rivalry exists from youth rugby, but their Colts never seem to make the transition to senior rugby the way that ours have. We have been fortunate," said Roberts.

"It's something the club should be very proud of. To produce that quality but also to retain them."

This is epitomised by number eight Kain Claridge, Harlow's top try scorer this term. He bagged two tries in the 22-17 win over May & Baker last Saturday.

"He has had offers from other clubs at a higher level. I personally think he could play National Two rugby," beamed Roberts.

Meanwhile, Rams centre Ross Stalley makes his first return to the club he left earlier this season, the motivation could not be greater.

Roberts said: "I would not have thought he would need much motivation. He has a lot of friends there."

"Because of the recruiting of players he just wanted to play first team rugby. There's no animosity there. He was exactly what we needed."

The Rams skipper knows the match will be a repeat of the clash back in the autumn.

"That was a ferocious game. With the added spice that it's a local derby, they tend to be very close games," he said.

Harlow first team manager Steve Foreman says his Rams are desperate to atone for the earlier home loss.

"Clapton is a game that we have got to get revenge for what happened down here," he said.

Foreman thinks Harlow could have won the last match had Smith been available.

"You can always wonder: You are always going to have a couple of injuries," he bemoaned.

Kick-off is at 2pm on Saturday.

DESIRE: Boss Danny Chapman

Hangover gone and ruthless Hawks rising

HAWKS boss Danny Chapman admits his side were suffering a play-off hangover for the first third of the season – but are now firmly on track and hungry to achieve promotion this term.

Ahead of a crunch period of two matches in four days against teams in the top four, the Harlow Town manager can see the hunger within his side off the back of seven successive victories.

That was missing in the first few months of the season when Harlow's disappointing league form saw them languishing in the bottom eight off the back of a run of just eight wins in their first 17 league games.

It was a far cry to last season when they amassed a phenomenal 103 points but were pipped to the title by a single point and then lost in the play-off semi-final to Thurrock.

Chapman explained: "I'm fed up with talking to people about last season. That's gone."

Expectation

"We had a bit of a hangover at the club. Everyone felt sorry for themselves because we did not go up last year."

"The expectation went through the roof at the start of this season. Mentally it never happened. But now we are doing everything we can to make it happen."

Chapman knows victories at home to second-placed AFC Hornchurch on Saturday and then three points at fourth-placed Thurrock on Tuesday can give Harlow a psychological edge in the play-off race.

"It's a big week, we've got two big games and if we can get maximum points, that will put us in a great position."

"There's a ruthlessness about us at the moment. We want to win every game."

Chapman is expecting a tough test against the Urchins. "They are pretty similar to us in the way they do things. It just depends who approaches the game better and with the right mentality," he said.

Harlow certainly owe Thurrock something after beating them in the play-offs last season. "It's another hard game and we are going to have to be on top form," he added.
